The Name

“Tharwa” means wealth — not merely money, but lasting value, legacy, and things built to endure. Paired with “Funkash”, it signals a house that creates enduring worth through technology.

Governing principle: the brand should always feel premium, considered, and built to last — the quiet confidence of an institution, not the noise of a start-up. Where a choice is open, take the more restrained option. This principle should guide the design team’s visual decisions as much as it guides this document.

How We Sound

We write the way we build: precisely, and without noise.

Plain over clever. We say the thing directly. If a sentence needs a second reading, it is not finished. Specific over broad. We name the venture, the number, the outcome. Vagueness reads as uncertainty. Measured over urgent. We do not shout, chase trends, or manufacture excitement.

The work is the argument. Enduring over immediate. We write sentences that will still be true, and still sound like us, in five years.

Talent

Wealth, built in technology.

The Tharwa Funkash Technologies logo combines the initials T and F into a distinctive monogram that represents technology, structure and shared progress. The letters connect beneath a single curved stroke, communicating the brand's ability to unite ideas, people and systems into companies built for lasting impact.

The double circular frame represents continuity, a growing business ecosystem and the compounding value created when technology companies work together. It also gives the emblem the authority of an institutional seal, reflecting trust, permanence and responsible stewardship.

The monogram's construction draws inspiration from architectural pillars and engineered frameworks. Its strong vertical forms represent stability, ownership and institutional strength, while the sweeping upper line suggests a bridge, horizon or protective structure—symbolising connection and forward movement.

Enduring

Institutional

Deep navy communicates intelligence, reliability and technical expertise. Antique gold introduces value, ambition and enduring quality without feeling excessive. Together, the colours position Tharwa Funkash as a quietly confident African technology company focused on building long-term institutions.

The result is a timeless and versatile identity that balances heritage with innovation—capturing Tharwa Funkash's commitment to building, owning and scaling technology that endures.

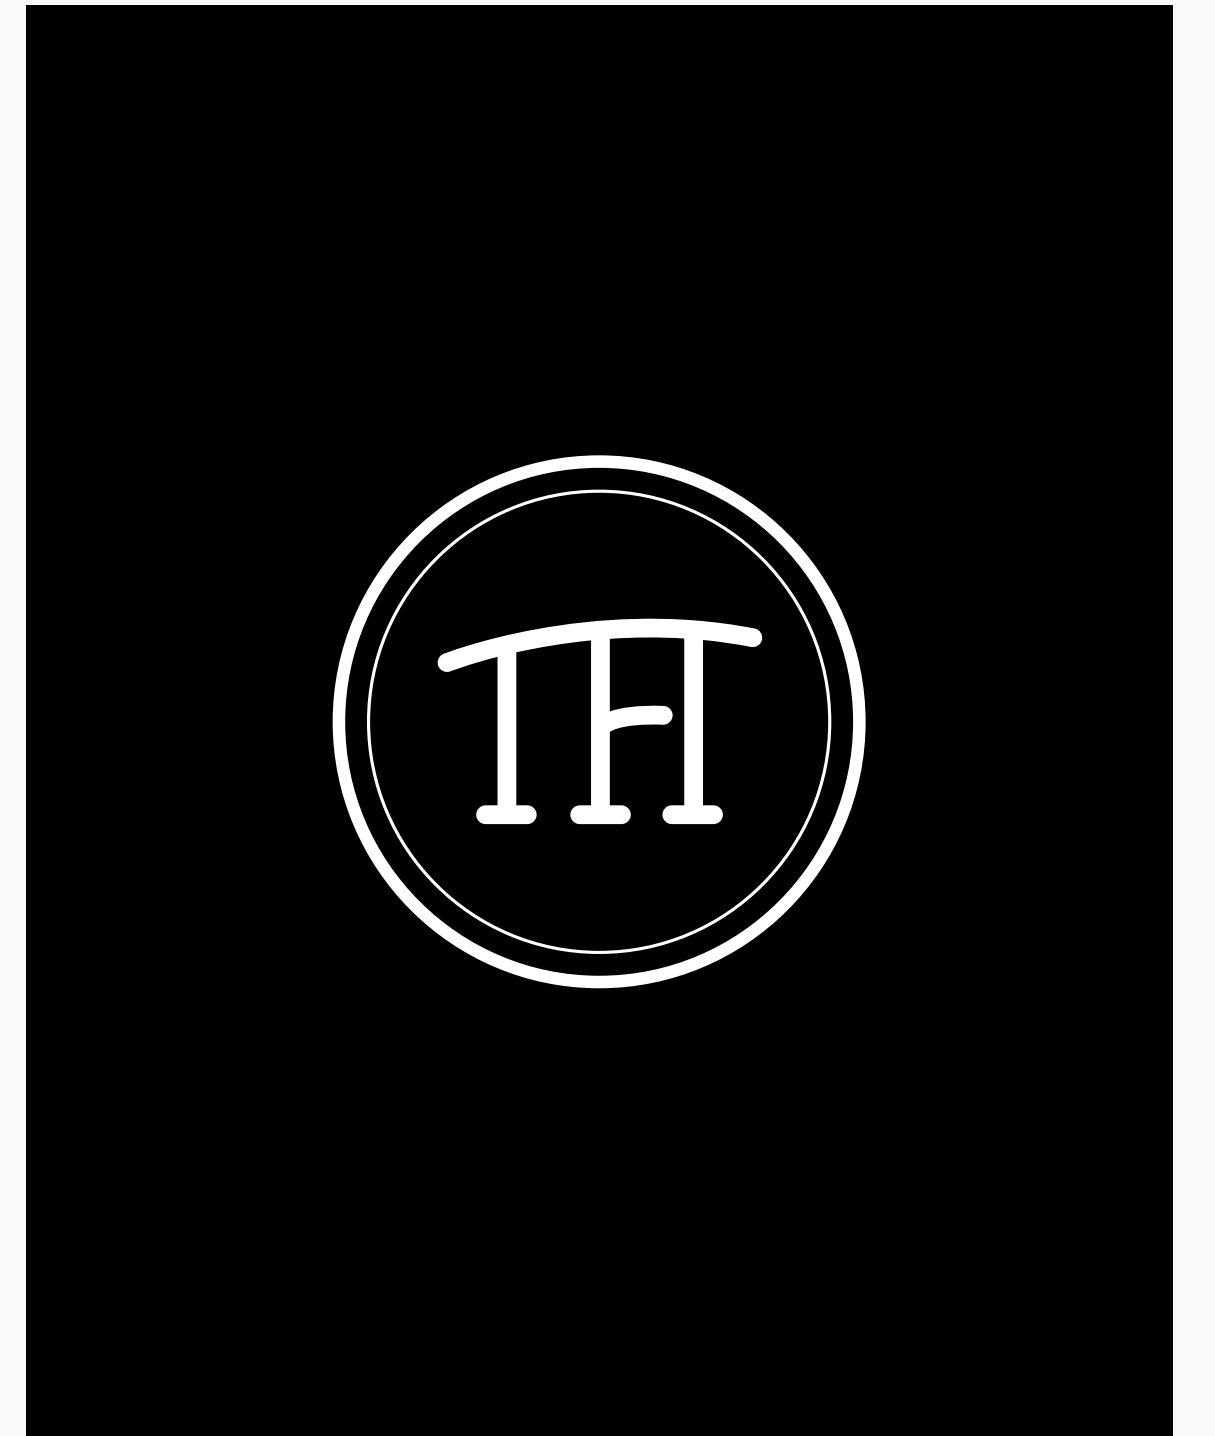

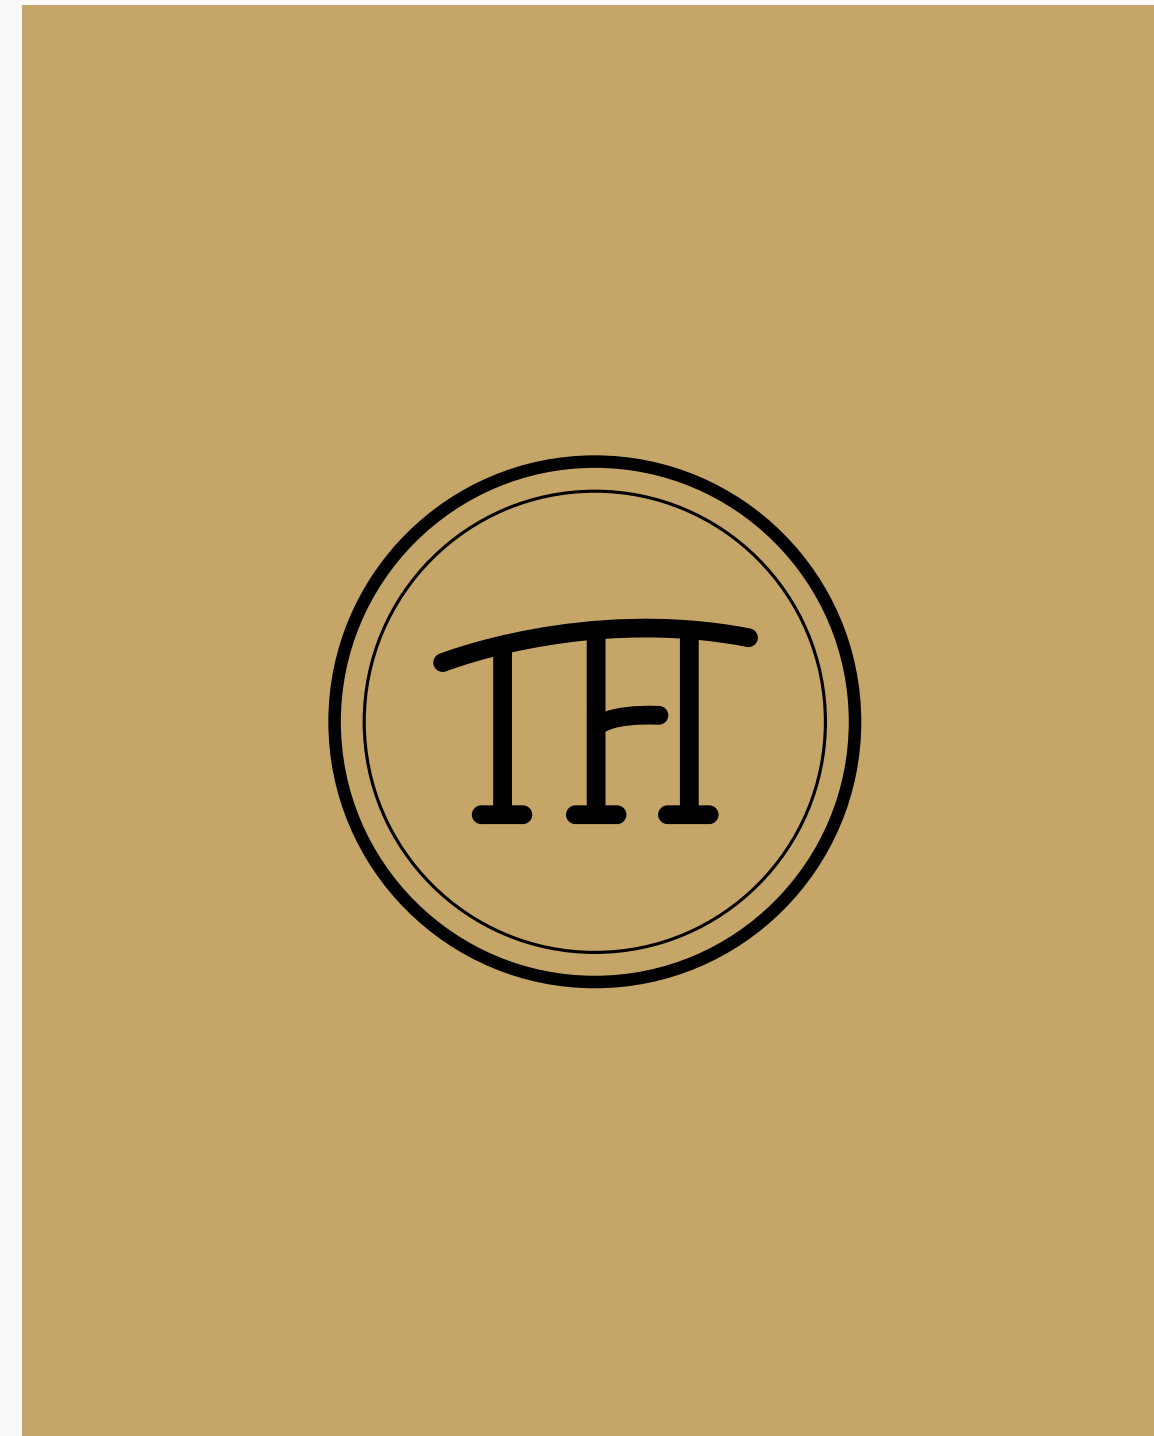

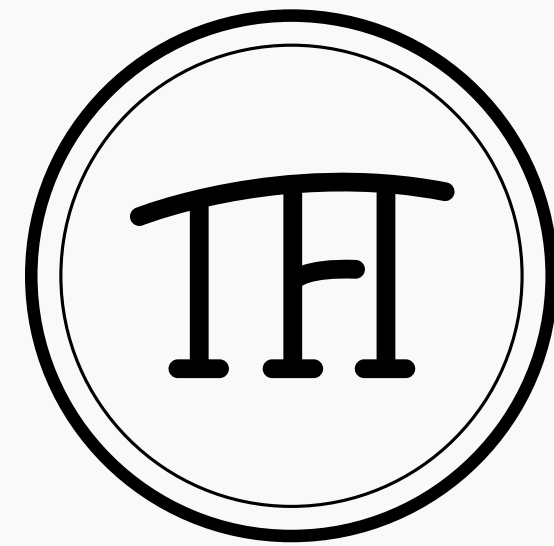

Logo Variations on Different Backgrounds

A flexible logo system is crucial for real-world brand application. Here, we showcase how the [Brand Name] logo adapts to different background environments while preserving its identity. Whether displayed on light surfaces, bold colors, or photographic textures, each variation ensures optimal contrast, clarity, and recognition. These adaptations are designed to maintain brand consistency across digital, print, and environmental mediums."
